Ninety canaries were killed when a fire believed to have spread from burning rubbish in a nearby garden ripped through an aviary

The Mayor of Sarasota apologised to the family of Northampton man James Kouzaris, who was killed while on holiday in Florida

Axe maniac was 'creepy' relative says

THE stepdaughter of a crazed axe murderer has revealed he would turn up unannounced at her home in Northampton leaving her so terrified he would kill her that she considered going into hiding.

Natasha Iarrobino, aged 27, has spoken about how axe maniac, John Sweeney, used to turn up at her childhood home in Paddock Mill, Blackthorn, to visit her mother, brother and sister, and how she spent seven years of her life "looking over her shoulder" after he went on the run.

Sweeney, already behind bars for attempting to murder an ex-girlfriend with an axe, was jailed for life this month for butchering two other women. He was found guilty of murdering former lover Melissa Halstead in 1990, and killing vice girl Paula Fields before dumping her body in a canal in London. Police say they fear he may have killed at least five more women.

Natasha, now a mother-of-three from Wootton, was born after Sweeney split up with her mum and was brought up in Paddock Mill with the killer's two children, Michael and Tracey.

Natasha said she would find Sweeney standing outside her home staring at the house as she played in the street. She said the killer even spent Christmas at her family home, just days before going on the run from police.

Natasha said: "He was married to my mum before I was born. When we moved to Blackthorn from Liverpool he would just turn up at our house.

"Sometimes he would come three or four times a month and then he wouldn't come for another two years. He would come to see my brother and sister.

"I always found him creepy, he just stared a lot and he was very controlling of my mum, even though they weren't together. He would just look right through you."

Chillingly, Natasha says she even met one of Sweeney's victims, Melissa Halstead, after he brought the American to the house.

When Sweeney's horrific crimes finally caught up with him, he disappeared for seven years, prompting Natasha's family to install a panic alarm at their Northampton home before they fled to Humberside.

She added: "It is just hard to believe what he did.

"You feel guilty that he did it to them and not to us, you feel guilty you are alive and they're not.

"It is a huge relief he is in jail now."

'It won't

THE former girlfriend of murdered tourist James Kouzaris said last night she would always love the man she described as "adorable, genuine and amazing".

Mr Kouzaris, aged 24, of Kingsthorpe, Northampton, and his university friend James Cooper, aged 25, were shot dead on holiday in Florida in the early hours of Saturday morning.

Liz Clare dated Mr Kouzaris - known to friends as Jam - for three years, starting when he was a student at the University of Sheffield and she was a 19-year-old studying at the University of Leeds.

She told the Chronicle & Echo: "I got the phone call as I was sitting in a beer garden. I couldn't believe it. I kept telling my friend he was lying to me. I don't think it will ever sink in for any of us. These things don't happen to people like us - to people like Jam and Coop."

The bodies of Mr Kouzaris and Mr Cooper were found in a narrow one-way street in the impoverished Newtown area of northern Sarasota, on the south-west coast, at about 3am.

A 16-year-old boy has since been arrested and charged with their murder but police have so far been unable to establish a motive for the crime.

Manchester United fan Mr Kouzaris and Mr Cooper were on a three-week holiday in Florida with Mr Cooper's family, from Warwick, on the upmarket island city of Longboat Key, about 12 miles from the area where they were killed, which is not routinely frequented by tourists.

Sarasota police said yesterday they were still investigating how the pair had come to be in the area.

Miss Clare, now 25, said: "I just can't understand why they were there. They're not stupid. I was with Jam for three years and he was so cautious. We used to call him 'grandad' because he was so cautious."

"My biggest fear is what people might think about why they were in a dodgy area. Some of the papers are saying there might be a link to drugs but everyone who knows them both knows it would never be that."

Miss Clare and Mr Kouzaris, who was part-Greek Cypriot, met through mutual friends on a visit to Northampton and during their three-year relationship holidayed in Thailand and Greece, before splitting up amicably when Miss Clare moved back to her hometown of Stamford.

She said: "The three years we had were amazing. We were part of a very close group of friends and he was always the silly one of the group, saying silly things and doing silly things. He loved running, playing rugby and music. He was a Michael Jackson fan and loved Manchester United. But most of all he loved his family and friends, and making memories.

"He was so adorable, so genuine, and would do anything for anyone. Everyone who met him described him as amazing. Everyone just loved him and my sisters used to send him back to uni with food parcels.

"This is just the most awful, awful thing to have happened and it will affect our lives forever. It will never be okay.

"I will always love him and I will miss him so much. He had the biggest smile - I used to call it a jammy smile - that he would give me, and he was always positive and making silly comments.

"I just don't know how anyone could do this. I don't think anyone will ever know."

Mr Kouzaris's family were too upset to speak yesterday but released a statement through Northamptonshire Police.

They said: "James was a wonderful son. We loved him so much and we can't believe he has gone. We are absolutely devastated and in a state of complete shock. We ask that the media respect our privacy at this immensely traumatic time."

Meanwhile Mr Kouzaris's sister, Emily, posted a note on Facebook, thanking friends for their messages.

She said: "My brother was a legend and he will be missed and loved by many, many people."

DOZENS of people from Northampton are still recovering from pounding the streets of London at the weekend in the annual marathon.

Runners from the town raised thousands of pounds for charity by taking part in the 2011 Virgin London Marathon, the world's largest annual fund-raising event.

Amongst the runners from the borough was Graham Rogers who took part in the event in tribute to his daughter who is celebrating 10 years of a successful lung and heart transplant.

Graham, who dressed as a ballerina, ran alongside his other daughter Hayley Cole, son-in-law Danny Cole and friend Jo O'Grady who together raised more than £6,000 for the British Heart Foundation.

He said: "I'm tired but buzzing.

"I want to re-wind the whole day, it was brilliant.

"So many congratulatory wishes for Natasha, it was unbelievable.

"I carried the banner round with me and would hold it up when I could and always got a huge round of applause and cheering.

"The support was fantastic, it was very emotional.

"I hope I encouraged people to sign up to the organ donor list."

Other runners included 76 year-old Diana Green from Old, who attempted the race despite undergoing a double hip replacement last year and recently battling breast cancer.

First time runners Louise King aged 41, who owns Lupins Hair Salon in Rectory Farm, and Tracey Doran, aged 40, from Thornby, both managed to complete the marathon in just over five-and-a-half hours despite the heat.

The ladies, who raced separately, said the atmosphere was better than they had imagined.

Louise raised £1,300 for children's and young persons' cancer charity CLIC Sargent while Tracy raised around £2,000 for mental health charity MIND.

Dave Connell says - "When Homesure originally opened in Milton Keynes in 1991, the objective was to provide a warm and welcoming way of doing straight forward business with local people. A few simple guidelines were set out to ensure that it was always a pleasure to do business with Homesure. No dubious sales techniques, false promises or underhand tactics, just straight forward good deals, a great product for a fair price. Those initial principals have not changed. Over 100 new customers a month from Milton Keynes, and the surrounding areas, now choose a brand of The Home Improvement Partnership, either Homesure, The Door Studio, Denverglaze, Simply Conservatories or MK Glass. Therefore, you are invited to have a FREE NO OBLIGATION QUOTATION in the comfort of your own home or online, or to visit our QUOTE CLINIC. Bring your window sizes, styles and maybe a photo to our showroom for on the spot advice, design and quotation. You can see for yourself our range of products and finishes. This makes it easier for you to avoid the minefield of wasted evenings and high pressure sales techniques." So we welcome you to pop in for a coffee and some good old fashioned friendly service"

'Have a say on bus cuts'

BUS users throughout Northamptonshire have been urged to have their say on cuts to services to make sure the local authority is aware of the consequences of its cull.

Northamptonshire County Council will be consulting with bus passengers until May 27 over how public transport can be provided on a reduced budget, with new transport systems set to be introduced in September.

These include removing subsidies from some routes, scrapping concessionary fares and introducing a CallConnect service, which would work in a similar way to a taxi-service in rural areas.

However, some cuts which have already been rolled-out are causing long delays for passengers.

Mike Barlow, chairman of the Northampton branch of Bus Users UK, said: "If no feedback is given they may not take into account all of the potential problems their cuts will mean."

"We have a situation in Pottishall where cuts to the running of the 86 service means passengers are waiting hours to get to Towcester; to the extent that it would be quicker to walk.

"At the moment a lot of the cuts that have come in mean passenger requirements are not being met and this needs to be brought to their attention."

In many rural areas of south Northamptonshire elderly people have been particularly hard hit by service changes. They include Culworth, where scores of people have already signed a petition fighting the cuts to their bus services.

Councillor Heather Smith, county council cabinet member for highways, minerals and waste, said: "There's no doubt the traditional way of providing public transport was becoming inefficient and an overhaul of the system was badly needed."

"What we are proposing here is significantly reducing this spend. I think we have come up with better, more cost-effective ways of providing transport where there is a need. What we've come up with is a variety of solutions. Now we want people to comment on these proposals so further tweaks can be made."

HELP US RAISE £1.5M

for a new cancer treatment unit at Northampton General Hospital

Firm helps raise £10k

MORE than £10,000 has been raised for the Chronicle & Echo and Macmillan Cancer Support's charity appeal by a Northamptonshire food company.

Family-run Houghton Hams, based at Moulton Business Park in Northampton, raised the money through a variety of fundraising events including a Valentine's Day-themed gig and a clothes swap event.

Linda Wagstaff said: "A family friend and my godfather, David Harris, passed away last year from cancer. It was quite a quick illness and the Macmillan nurses were a great support so we decided we wanted to do something to say 'thank you' to Macmillan for all the work they did."

"David came from Northampton and his family really wanted the money to go to a local cause so we chose the Chron's appeal."

"We were really pleased to raise so much. We initially thought we'd get about £4,000 but it just went up and up. The sale of raffle tickets alone raised about £3,000."

"Everyone was really generous and we had a lot of things donated for free by local businesses, the Saints and the cricket club."

Some 350 people attended the Big Red Gig, at St George's Hall in Northampton, in February to hear local band Waggy and the Splinters and DJ Matt Potter play, as well as enjoy a silent auction and a raffle.

Staff from Houghton Hams handed over a cheque for £10,036 to Macmillan fundraising manager for Northampton Marcus Cox last week.

The Chron and Macmillan's joint campaign aims to fund a new blood cancer treatment unit at Northampton General Hospital.

So far nearly £467,000 has been raised towards the £1.55 million needed to build the new haematology unit.

To donate to the appeal visit www.macmillan.org.uk/northampton. To get involved call Macmillan on 01676 535452.

Cars get in top gear for rally

CLASSIC car enthusiasts met at The Stag's Head in Maidwell en route for a rally at Husband's Bosworth gliding centre as part of national Drive-It Day.

The day saw classic, unusual and sports cars dusted off ahead of summer rallies. Motorists from Northampton and Kettering met at the pub for coffee on Sunday morning and showed

Another for Arthur

MONEY makes the world go around but it can't buy you love or a flawless update of the Oscar-winning 1981 comedy Arthur starring Dudley Moore as the eponymous billionaire and Sir John Gielgud as his long-suffering, strait-laced butler. Director Jason Winer and screenwriter Peter Baynham cast Russell Brand as their loveable yet irresponsible man-child, whose limitless fortune allows him to circumvent the laws that keep the rest of society in check. Unlike his predecessor, Brand doesn't possess the innate vulnerability or charm which compelled us to care for Arthur as he boozed himself towards oblivion.

Instead, this new version opts for risqué humour and pop culture references, including a cameo for Evander Holyfield as the hero's boxing coach and a crunching appearance by the Batmobile in the opening sequence. Crucially, Winer's film chooses a female nanny to keep Arthur out of trouble, casting Oscar winner Helen Mirren in this pivotal role. She brings gravitas to the part and nabs many of the best lines, gently tugging the heartstrings when the friendship with her reckless ward is tested to its limit. Arthur Bach (Brand) is heir to his family's vast fortune, presided over by his emotionally cold mother, Vivienne (Geraldine James). The headline-grabbing antics of her son threaten the public image of Bach Worldwide and Vivienne summons Arthur to her office. "I remember you from when I used to live in your womb," he grins cheekily. Vivienne informs Arthur that he will marry corporate executive Susan Johnson (Jennifer Garner) to ensure she can take charge of the company. If Arthur refuses, he will be cut off from his inheritance and the privileged lifestyle he has known since birth. Arthur resigns himself to marital hell, only to run into tour guide and aspiring author Naomi (Greta Gerwig) outside Grand Central Station. She has no clue who he is, and he responds warmly to her quirky sense of humour. Soon after, Arthur tries to persuade his mother to marry for love not financial security. "I respect your integrity. You just lost 950 million dollars," threatens Vivienne. So Arthur goes ahead with the nuptials while secretly seeing Naomi, aided and abetted by his nanny Hobson (Mirren) and chauffeur Bitterman (Luis Guzman). Arthur boasts some nice moments, most of them involving Mirren and Brand whose on screen rapport sustains interest through the unwieldy 110 minute running time. Brand's tomfoolery skirts brashness and sexual chemistry with Gerwig simmers but never quite boils. Meanwhile, Garner vamps it up as the ambitious social climber, whose bullying father (Nick Nolte) doesn't blink twice when Arthur accidentally shoots him with a nail gun. Comparisons with the original film are not particularly favourable and in the current climate of global recession and austerity, it's hard to care about a man with pockets deeper than his feelings.

Theatre

A show with no Ps & Qs...

THE Avenue, where you don't need to mind your Ps and Qs, continues at Milton Keynes Theatre this weekend.

The award-winning Broadway musical Avenue Q is on its first UK tour, following five successful years in the West End, and has been at Milton Keynes Theatre since earlier this week. Avenue Q is not the most upmarket of New York streets and is about as far away from Park Avenue as you can get, but is home to lively and off-the-wall characters performed by a comic alliance of humans and puppets. Princeton has moved to the neighbourhood as he attempts to find his purpose in life but a tiny bank balance, a distracting blonde and a variety of weird and wonderful friends and neighbours lead him on a journey of self-discovery.

The show initially opened off-Broadway before transferring to Broadway and then to the West End in 2006. The show is full of rudeness, bad behaviour and political incorrectness and is not recommended for the under-12s. It takes place until tomorrow with performances at 5.30pm and 8.30pm today and 4pm and 7.30pm tomorrow. To book, call 0844 871 7652 or visit www.ambassadorickets.com/miltonkeynes.

Died suddenly at home on April 14th 2011 aged 90 years. Reunited with Husband Ron and Sons' Ronnie & Michael. Loving Mother, Grandmother and Great Grandmother.

Our family circle is broken. A link gone from our chain. But though we've parted for a while. We know we'll meet again. Some day, we know not when. We shall meet in a better place. And never part again. We shall meet with all our loved ones. That were torn from our embrace. We shall listen to their voices. And behold them in embrace. Sunshine passes, shadows fall. Love's remembrance out lasts all.

It's time to say goodbye Nan.

Don't think of her as gone away, just think of her as resting. Think how she must be wishing, that we could know today, how nothing but our sadness can really pass away. Think of her as living, in the hearts of those she touched, for nothing loved is ever lost and she was loved so much.

Good Night, God Bless.
Your belly dancing days at rest.

Your love was very special, something you could only give. I will keep you locked within my heart, as long as I shall live. Next time we meet my darling, it will be at Heavens door, and when I see you standing there, I won't cry anymore. I'll fling my arms around your neck, and kiss your smiling face. Webster a fan of Harrad

BYRON WEBSTER says Cobblers striker Shaun Harrad has been like a different player since getting back on the goal trail.

Harrad notched twice against Bury and then tallied a fifth goal in Cobblers colours with a penalty at Wycombe Wanderers on Saturday.

Tomorrow night (Fri), the former Burton Albion forward has Rotherham in his sights as Town look to finally put an end to a run of 16 games without a win and put breathing space between themselves and relegation rivals Barnet.

And Webster is confident Harrad will once again be in the right place at the right time.

"He's really been buzzing around in training," said the on-loan Doncaster centre-back. "He got those two goals against Bury last week and you can see it's really changed him."

"In training you always think he's going to score when he gets in front of goal. He got a goal on Saturday and you can look at the negatives of him missing one or two but we can't be doing that in the position we're in."

"We've got to focus on the positive things, we're missing chances but if you don't buy a ticket you don't win the raffle do you? We all make mistakes and miss chances or whatever but it's all about putting them right."

Manager Gary Johnson has paired Harrad with Spanish striker Guillem Bauza in recent weeks, and has been pleased with the number of chances the duo are generating.

The Cobblers boss was happy to see both men get their names on the scoresheet at Adams Park, and though he concedes they both should have had doubles, he gave the thumbs-up to their all-round performances.

"I thought we maintained possession really well in the first half and those two (Harrad and Bauza) kept the ball really well up front," said Johnson. "They looked very sharp and they both scored a goal but they both should have scored another goal. If they'd done that we'd have won 4-2, but at least we're getting them in there and getting them chances with our tactics and our training."

"We're getting them into goalscoring situations. I lost count how many times Michael Jacobs got down the line and played people in on Saturday, and that was very encouraging."

The are now 22nd in npower League Two, three points and one place above the relegation zone.

A win over the Millers tomorrow (ko 7.45pm) would see them six points clear of second-from-bottom Barnet, who play Gillingham on Saturday.

One more victory!

SAINTS boss Jim Mallinder says he is still confident of reaching the Premiership semi-finals despite leaving Gloucester pointless on Tuesday night.

Mallinder made 13 changes to the side that won at Newcastle on Friday, and although he brought his big guns off the bench they just missed out on a claiming crucial bonus point against the Cherry & Whites.

Lee Dickson added to Alex Waller's first half try and Saints were twice denied tries by the TMO in a thunderous last quarter that so nearly brought them a vital point.

Last night's defeat has virtually ended chances of clinching third place, but Saints remain four points clear of London Irish who they take on this Saturday.

Victory would seal a Premiership play-off place, but defeat would see it go to the last day of the season.

Mallinder said: "It is a massive game, if we win that game we are in the top four. It is there for us, the positive now is that we now go into one game per week, so we know exactly where we are."

Mallinder was frustrated that he had been left with a midweek game at the end of the season after the original fixture had been postponed on Boxing Day because of a frozen pitch.

The Premiership has just two blowers to keep pitches in condition and none were available to Gloucester at the time so the game was called off.

Mallinder said: "It is difficult, we should not be playing these midweek fixtures, that game should have gone ahead on Boxing day. We need to get adequate covers so we can play week after week."

"We don't get our England players enough and so to be restricted at this point is disappointing."

Saints' five England Elite Player Squad members are only allowed to play 160 minutes of the three games in eight days.

Even so Saints thought they had grabbed a bonus point through Soane Tonga'u'iha's late, late try and were left shaking their heads when it was scrubbed off by the TMO.

Mallinder added: "I am not too sure if it was a try, I will have a good study on the coach going back."

"We came close, Hartley came close, Tonga'u'iha came close and we had a couple of chances out wide where we had some overlaps where we probably could have done better, but we didn't and we have got to move on."

"It is still in our hands we need to go down to London Irish on Saturday and win."

Kick-off at the Madejski Stadium on Saturday is at 3pm, and the game is being broadcast live on Sky Sports.
